Flagship story angle

Angle 14 — The Paper Called Exhibit 56. A short story could be organised around a real object named in a contemporaneous court record: a handwritten note. It connects education, women's participation, Surya Sen, the 1932 attack, and the later trial. It also allows the historian to distinguish what the document establishes from later retellings. The note and its historical evidence should be the focus; not a graphic account of the death.

4. Disputes, legends and doubts

A. Date of the club attack and death — UNSURE: 23 or 24 September

An additional date circulates in an indexed PDF excerpt, but that page could not be opened, so it is deliberately excluded from the verified versions.

Banglapedia assigns the attack to 23 September 1932.

[1] Banglapedia: Waddedar, Pritilata | Exact quote: “on 23 September 1932”

The 1933 Calcutta High Court judgment calls it 24 September 1932.

[2] Emperor v. Surjya Kumar Sen and another (1933 judgment) | Exact quote: “raid of 24th September 1932”

The Bangladesh Teachers Portal dates Pritilata’s death to 24 September 1932.

[5] Pritilata, Education Portal lesson | Exact quote: “24 September 1932”

B. Matriculation year — UNSURE

Banglapedia dates her school exam to 1927.

[1] Banglapedia: Waddedar, Pritilata | Exact quote: “in the first division in 1927”

The later Observer article also dates matriculation to 1927.

[4] Remembering Pritilata Waddedar | Exact quote: “in 1927 with letter marks”

An editorial archive dates the school exam to 1928; this conflict is unresolved.

[19] Early Life & Education - Pritilata Waddedar | Exact quote: “In 1928 she passed the matriculation examination”

C. College graduation year versus award date

The Indian Express describes a posthumous award in March 2012 for a 1932 degree.

[3] Pritilata Waddedar, the 21-year-old ... | Exact quote: “for the year 1932”

Banglapedia says graduation was two years after the 1929 Intermediate exam, implying 1931.

[1] Banglapedia: Waddedar, Pritilata | Exact quote: “Two years later, Pritilata graduated”

Her university degree certificate spells the surname differently.

[3] Pritilata Waddedar, the 21-year-old ... | Exact quote: “'Pritilata Waddar'”

D. Group size — UNSURE

Indian Express reports ten attackers.

[3] Pritilata Waddedar, the 21-year-old ... | Exact quote: “a group of 10”

Bangladesh teachers portal reports fifteen.

[5] Pritilata, Education Portal lesson | Exact quote: “fifteen revolutionaries”

The older printed book chapter describes about fifteen participants.

[7] The Roll of Honour, Chapter 8: The Chittagong Saga, scanned pp. 459-496 | Exact quote: “about fifteen people differently dressed”

The later Observer report describes an eight-member team.

[4] Remembering Pritilata Waddedar | Exact quote: “this eight-member team”

E. The sign "Dogs and Indians not allowed" — exact artefact UNVERIFIED

Banglapedia repeats the sign wording.

[1] Banglapedia: Waddedar, Pritilata | Exact quote: “'Dogs and Indians not allowed'”

The Indian Express also repeats the wording.

[3] Pritilata Waddedar, the 21-year-old ... | Exact quote: “Dogs and Indians not allowed”

No directly photographed sign or contemporaneous inventory proving the exact wording at this exact club was opened. Do not describe it as a surviving artefact.

F. Was Pritilata directly involved in the April 1930 raid?

The Indian Express gives her a role in the April 1930 action.

[3] Pritilata Waddedar, the 21-year-old ... | Exact quote: “During the Chittagong Armory Raid of April 1930”

The court quotes a document in which Surya Sen says he planned to meet Rani in 1931.

[2] Emperor v. Surjya Kumar Sen and another (1933 judgment) | Exact quote: “during the Puja. Vacation in 1931”

A firm description of her exact operational role in April 1930 cannot be resolved from those two statements alone.

G. What can we say about Pritilata’s own words?

The court states that Exhibit 56 was in her handwriting.

[2] Emperor v. Surjya Kumar Sen and another (1933 judgment) | Exact quote: “it is not disputed, is in her handwriting”

Other notes survive through courtroom transcription; do not invent her private feelings or direct speech.

H. Claims about family, childhood and nicknames

The later Observer biography gives the family nickname and pseudonym.

[4] Remembering Pritilata Waddedar | Exact quote: “nickname was 'Rani'”

FAMILY MEMORY: No identifiable family narrator of that nickname was documented in the opened primary records; the newspaper is a later retelling.

I. Death and injuries: record both sides, avoid a one-person-only account

The 1933 court names Mrs Sullivan as the woman killed.

[2] Emperor v. Surjya Kumar Sen and another (1933 judgment) | Exact quote: “Mrs. Sullivan”

The historical book records other people wounded.

[7] The Roll of Honour, Chapter 8: The Chittagong Saga, scanned pp. 459-496 | Exact quote: “About ten or twelve persons were injured”

Do not romanticise poisoning or describe the operational steps of the attack.
